VanDusen BOTANICAL GARDEN Bloedel CONSERVATORY | Vancouver Botanical Gardens Association

Caitlin ffrench bio

Caitlin ffrench is an artist and educator who works with wild-gathered mineral and plant pigments from within the land-bases she visits. ffrench works with wildcrafted pigments, finding the connections between place and memory. Her work explores parallels between their grief for the land experiencing climate change and their grief for her body being disabled by multiple sclerosis.